SUPERINTENDENTS AND PRINCIPALS WILL MEET

Oklahoma City, Feb. 6.—Replies received indicate that the meeting of the city superintendents and high school principals which has been called by Superintendent Wilson to convene in Oklahoma City the latter part of April will be generally attended. The purpose of the meeting is that the superintendents and principals with the State Department of Education might perfect the source of study for the high schools. The new course of study will provide for schools having two, three and four years courses and each class and each school will have its proper standing with the state university and the other state schools. Upon the completion of this task, one of the principal pledges made by Supt. Wilson will have been fulfilled and all the schools of the state will be in closer relation to each other than at any time since the organization of the public school system in Oklahoma.

After hearing from almost all of the county superintendents regarding the new form for taking the scholastic enumeration, Supt. Wilson declares that this system will save to the schools of the state this year more than the cost of running the department during the administration.

Prospects are very flattering for Oklahoma to entertain the next National Convention of School Superintendents. The convention meets this year in St. Louis, February 27th to the 29th and there will be very few counties in Oklahoma not represented.

Great interest is being manifested over the state concerning the spelling contest. The test for state honors will be held in Oklahoma City, May 8th and 9th and every county promises to be represented. This is one of the important features of Oklahoma school work. A handsome gold medal will be given the winner of the state contest and a silver medal to the second best speller.

Dan R. Thomas and Jas. Williams the famous Welsh singers at the Majestic theatre, certainly made good last evening. Their rendition of popular songs was something splendid and deserved the applause they received. They will appear again this evening. Another interesting feature of the evening's entertainment, will be a picture showing an exciting engine race, in which the engineer father seeks to overtake his eloping daughter and her lover, who manage to escape on a hand car.

J. S. Kennedy and his mother, Mrs. E. C. Kennedy, who visited W. D. Kennedy and family the first of the week, returned to their home at Bonham this morning.

REWARDS OFFERED FOR FIREBUGS

Fort Worth, Tex., Feb. 5.—Rewards aggregating $2,025 have been offered for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who caused the fire that destroyed the First Baptist church of this city Sunday morning and who attempted to burn the residence of the pastor of the church, Rev. J. Frank Norris, on West Fifth street. That home is about five blocks away from the church building, which was at the corner of Taylor and Third streets.

One of the rewards is offered by a number of citizens and the other was offered by the City Commission. Each of these is for $1,000. H. H. Harvey, a city waterworks employee, personally, without reference to the others, pledges himself for an additional $25 reward.

By the surrender to Postmaster L. M. Barkley of several anonymous threatening letters this morning it became known that the lives of Rev. Mr. Norris and of G. H. Connell, one of the deacons of the church, had been threatened, and also the destruction of the church. The postmaster gave the letters to Postoffice Inspector Rolfe for investigation. City Detectives Speight and Snow are working on the case, under direction of Police Chief Renfro and Captain of Detectives Conally.

Chief Renfro said this evening there was substantially no news of any kind in relation to the fire. Reports were current last evening and yesterday that the janitor of the church had left a large fire burning when he departed from the church Saturday night. Fire Chief Bideker said this afternoon that he had talked with the negro man pointed out to him as the janitor of the church and to the chief the janitor had said there was no fire in the building when he left Saturday night, about 7 o'clock or so, unless there was a fire in the stenographer's room.

Negro's Execution Set to Music.

Ossining, N. Y., Feb. 5.—While the condemned inmates in the death house in Sing Sing prison softly sang "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," Charles Swenton, a negro, was executed in the electric chair this morning for the murder of Isaac Lee. It was the first time in the history of the prison that the convicts have ever sung a death decree while another has paid the penalty of his life. Swenton went to the chair cheerfully. After two shocks he was pronounced dead.

Swenton shot and killed Isaac Lee on the night of Nov. 3, 1910, at the latter's home on West Sixty-Ninth street New York City. Both were negroes. The killing was the indirect result of a quarrel over the tariff. The two men were drinking in a saloon and the discussion was suggested by a poster on the wall. Lee said he could not understand how the trusts could have got hold of codfish, because there are so many in the sea. This remark angered Swenton, who told Lee to "cut it out." In the quarrel that followed Swenton was roughly handled by Lee.

The next night Swenton went to Lee's apartments and shot him.

BUSINESS COLLEGE SEEMS ASSURED

Prof. J. A. Lemon is still busy pushing the matter of establishing a business college at Ada, and the matter has gone far enough to make it almost a certainty. He is now considering two or three locations, and in a day or two at most, it is more than probable that the location will be announced.

The News is indeed gratified at the successful outcome of this movement, for a business college is needed here and will no doubt prosper from the beginning.

Married.

Yesterday evening the marriage of Mr. Walter Puckett of Austin, Tex., and Miss Novia Cole was solemnized at the Methodist parsonage, Rev. C. L. Brooks officiating.

LATE NEWS NOTES FROM WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—Freedmen attached to the Cherokee tribe of Indians who did not return to the tribe within 6 months after the treaty of 1867, cannot participate in the distribution of the millions of Cherokee property, under a series of decisions in the Moses Whitmire and Little Lowe cases, announced by the U. S. Supreme Court last week.

The court refused to require the secretary of interior to replace the names of about 1,700 of these negroes on the Cherokee rolls. Secretary of Interior Hitchcock on the last day of his term of office in 1907 removed them.

As a result of the decision Congressman James S. Davenport of Vinita, is urging the interior department to make a $25 per capita payment to the Cherokee, as provided by the act passed last spring.

Representative Scott Ferris has introduced public building bills appropriating $200,000 each for federal buildings at Altus, Frederick, Mangum, Hobart, Cordell, Elk City, Sayre Shawnee, Norman, Pauls Valley, Sulphur and Duncan.

Through the efforts of Congressman Scott Ferris, the interior department has agreed to deposit Indian funds in the state banks of Jefferson county, Okla., if the bankers will band together and bear the expense of one inspection by a government agent. The same ruling will later be extended to other state banks in Oklahoma.

That Wall street is raising a great slush fund to be expended in the furtherance of the campaign of Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey for the presidency, is the charge made this week by the New York Herald. It is a well known fact that the Wilson backers have already let loose of more money than all the other democratic candidates combined.

The Indian Appropriation bill which has just been reported, contains an appropriation of $40,000 for the building of an Indian hospital on the Kiowa-Comanche-Apache reservation in Oklahoma.

The house Indian committee has reported the McGuire bill conveying 4 acres of land at Pond Creek, Okla., to that city for school, park and municipal purposes.

Postoffices at Buffalo, Butler and Cheyenne, Oklahoma, have been designated as postal savings depositories, effective February 24.

The matter of getting governmental aid in the launching of irrigation projects in Western Oklahoma, will be taken up with the secretary of the interior, Fisher, next week by a committee of reclamation boosters from the semi-arid regions of Oklahoma. The meeting has been arranged by Congresswoman Scott Ferris.

Maud C. White has been appointed as postmaster at Quinton, Okla.

The Call of the Booster.

One of Ada's chief boosters hands the following to the News, and a careful reading of it will pay any man. In fact, it will bear reading two or three times. Says our friend:

"Let the croakers croak and the knockers knock. It is a habit they have had until the habit has them. It is our opinion, certainly our hope, that constructionists, real builders, are in the saddle today.

"So let the croakers croak and the knockers knock. Every croak is a call to the better element. Every knock an inspiration to men worth while."

"Are you in the saddle? Organize a commercial club."

HADLEY WILL ADDRESS ROOSEVELT GATHERING

Oklahoma City, Ok., Feb. 6.—The statewide Roosevelt convention set for Oklahoma City, Feb. 10 has been changed to Feb. 21, as announced by A. E. Perry of Coalgate, chairman of the Roosevelt statewide movement, Gov. Harley of Missouri, one of those who have announced as favoring the nomination of the Rough Rider Colonel and against President Taft, will be the principal speaker. Other National speakers may be here, Perry said, but Gov. Hadley's appearance is a certainty.

The call is being sent out signed by Perry, as temporary chairman and J. E. Dyche of Oklahoma City, the last auditor of Oklahoma territory, as representative for Oklahoma on the Roosevelt National committee. Dyche was announced from the national headquarters in Chicago yesterday.

Perry says that 400 Roosevelt clubs are in the process of organization throughout the state. He believes the Third Congressional district convention meeting at Tulsa, March 5, will instruct for the Rough Rider. Between 800 and 900 delegates will sit in the convention, the representation being one for every twenty-five republican votes cast in the last election.

"The representation was fixed that way," said Perry, "so as to give the people a chance, and thwart the efforts of the coterie holding appointments."

Perry believes that if La Follette withdraws from the race, as indicated by the press reports, that his support will go to the only other progressive in the race, Theodore Roosevelt.

Republican Factions Getting Together

Washington, Feb. 5.—Republicans in Congress caucused tonight and named the committee which will conduct the coming congressional campaign. Insurgent and regular republicans fraternized in a manner not seen since the party revolt that sheared Speaker Cannon of his power in the preceding session. As a result the leaders were enthusiastic over the outlook for victory in the coming struggle to wrest from the democrats the control of the house.

"Good, good," immediately rose from every corner of the House chamber. This was followed by general applause. Mr. McKinley has been recognized as one of the stanchest of the "old guards" and is a close, personal friend and admirer of former Speaker Cannon. The resolution was adopted unanimously.

Arthur Was Going Some.

Arthur, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Campbell of Cheyenne, while visiting relatives near Rankin, decided he would go home. He started off near dusk. He was not found until sixteen hours later, and in that time he traveled 22 miles. He had gotten lost several times. He said he was not afraid of the coyotes, for he could make them run from him "the big dogs" scared him away from several farm houses where he would have stopped to get warm.

R. W. Simpson plans to leave tomorrow for New York where he will buy his usual big line of spring goods for the Surprise store. He will remain there until he finds everything he thinks the Ada market demands.

Notice.

The F. U. of A. will meet Wednesday 7th at 7:30 p. m. All members urged to attend.

KEEN COMPETITION.

Evidently there are some long tongues and sharp ears at Rocky, just as they are everywhere else. Says the Record:

"There is absolutely no occasion for the Record to have so much competition in the distribution of news in this town and community. If this practice does not stop we will get out an injunction against about a dozen persons for intruding on our constitutional rights. No names will be called at present."

The recent attempt on the life of Rev. J. Frank Norris, pastor of the First Baptist church at Fort Worth, Texas, and the burning of his home, will, as is always the case, react on the tough element, and the Id will be clamped tighter than ever.

The killing of McLean by a gambler led to the passage of the law making gambling a felony, the murder of a policeman caused "Hell's Half Acre" to be cleaned up, and this latest outrage will cause the toughs of Fort worth more trouble than anything they have ever done. Brute force is all the argument they can understand and it is sometimes necessary to give them a dose of their own medicine.

Hon. Fred P. Branson, chairman of the State Democratic Central Committee has issued a letter directed to all the democratic precinct committeemen of the state urging them to take up the matter of organizing the democrats of their precinct into clubs. It is suggested that this work be taken up at the precinct conventions February 10. This is an important suggestion and one that should be given consideration. Oklahoma is a democratic state with a pronounced democratic majority, and with all the democrats of the state voting the state will be as emphatically democratic as other states which have never been considered doubtful. The only way to get the full strength of the party to the polls is to organize, and the best place to begin is in the precincts and the best time February 10.

Andy Carnegie threw a bucket of ice water on the Roosevelt boom in Oklahoma when he not only declined an invitation to come and deliver an address in favor of the strenuous one, but declared himself a faithful believer in Taft.

STRAW VOTES.

Just now a number of papers are taking "straw votes" among their readers in the presidential race. Various results are being obtained, but as a rule little confidence can be placed in any such. In the first place, only the most enthusiastic take any part in them, and then if a very zealous supporter wants his candidate to make a good showing, it is very easy to gather up a lot of the coupons, sign a varied assortment of names and fire them in, making the result show anything wanted.

GRAY HAIR MAKES YOU LOOK OLD

Use Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and Your Gray Hair Will Quickly Vanish.

Gray hair is a mark of age, and nothing that can be said as to its beauty will offset the disadvantages of this mark of age set upon your brow.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy darkens the hair and restores it to its youthful beauty. Our grandmothers and their grandmothers before them used sage and sulphur for darkening their hair. Nothing has ever been found more effective for this purpose than these two time honored remedies, but Wyeth, a modern chemist, has combined the two with other ingredients, which makes a delightful dressing for the hair, and which not only removes every trace of dandruff, but promotes the growth of the hair. It also stops the hair from falling out, and makes it beautiful.

All druggists are authorized to refund the money if it fails to do exactly as represented.

Don't neglect your hair and don't resort to old-time hair dyes. Get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist today, and notice the difference in your hair after a few days' use.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle. Special Agents, Gwin & Mays Drug Co.

Some Thoughts About Roads.

B. F. Yoakum, the able and energetic chairman of the Frisco System, is championing the good-roads movement, which is steadily progressing by giant, swinging strides, and he points to the $9,000,000,000 value of our farm crops as a prime argument for constant concerted activity to provide our country with amply adequate public highways. Contrasting the annual value of our agricultural yields with the value of other products in a like period of time he quotes figures revealing that the money worth of things produced each year on the farms is more than sixteen times as great as that of the steel output more than fifty-one times as great as the oil yield seven and a half times the value of a year's cut of lumber, over twenty-five times the value of the sugar output, and over fifty-one times the worth of the tobacco production. Truly these comparisons are startlingly impressive.

The great advantage of superior roads for the farmers, according to Mr. Yoakum, is that they would accomplish most of a much desired advancement toward bringing the farmer and the consumer closer together and that more direct dealing between these two classes would save $2,000,000,000 a year to the agriculturists.

Think of it, two thousand millions of dollars every twelve months. A monstrous fortune in itself, something so far beyond the wealth of any individual as to be impossible of mental conception. Moreover, it would be over twenty-two per cent. of the value of a year's farm crops, a splendid profit in itself.

Mr. Yoakum's reason for plunging into argument for the advancement of good roads work may be found in the fact that he is on the executive committee of the American Association for Highway Improvement, although his position as a recognized leader in the railroad world is ample warrant for his discussion of questions relating to the improvement of roads, because the creation of better highways everywhere would, beyond question, prove of untold value to the railways. Better roads, bigger wagon loads, and thus more prosperous farmers, with better tilled farms with intensive agriculture, making more business for the railroads. What would the annual value of farm crops be then? The answer to this question is of such magnitude that predictions about it would appear visionary to all who have not carefully studied the matter.

In the rest of the empire foot binding has not been the folly of the idle nor the fad of the fashionable, but a custom that bore upon all classes, poor and rich alike. At Kalgan on the Mongolian frontier the field women work kneeling with great pads over the knees to protect them from the damp soil. In three districts in Kansuh women are still crawling about their houses upon their knees, reduced to the locomotion of brutes to please the perverted taste of men!

In Shansi and Shensi I saw the women wielding the sickle, not stooping—that would hurt their poor feet too much—but sitting and hitching themselves along as they reaped. The women had to be carried to the wheat field on wheelbarrow or cart, and their helplessness is such that most of them never in their lives get a mile away from the houses to which they were taken as brides.

Is it any wonder that crippled, crushed by conventional restrictions and regarded with contempt, such a woman shows none of the home-making instinct that in America brightens even the log hut of the mountain backwoodsman with crazy quilts, rag carpets, tides and old newspapers scissored into ornamental patterns and pasted around the clock shelf or over the windows? There is not even a family meal, but each fills his bowl from the rice bucket and lounges about eating when he pleases.

A Gavel of National Interest.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—The gavel to be used by the Southern Commercial Congress in Nashville, April 8 to 10, is being prepared by the Ladies Hermitage Association. It will be made of hickory from a tree planted by "Old Hickory," Andrew Jackson when he erected the tomb to his wife in Nashville.

The Nashville meeting of the congress comes just one hundred years after the outbreak of the War of 1812, in which "Old Hickory" took such valiant part and just fifty years after the Battle of Shiloh, in Tennessee. During each of the years, 1911 to 1915 special gavels will be used by the Southern Commercial Congress, as its great meetings are intended to emphasize the contrast between conditions of today and conditions of earlier days.

At Atlanta, last March, the gavel used by the congress typified a new union of the South, there being in the head of the gavel sixteen pieces of wood, each piece contributed by the Commissioner of Agriculture of the state represented and all the pieces together grouped around a piece from West Virginia, the state that was formed out of the crash and distress of the war between the states. The handle of the gavel was made from a piece of an elm from the White House grounds in Washington, the tree having been planted by John Quincy Adams, the New England president.

THE WOE OF THE "LILY-FOOT" WOMEN OF CHINA

Selected by Edwin Markham.

Here is another extract from Prof. Edward Alsworth Ross's book, "The Changing Chinese," that is timely now that China is involved in the most surprising revolution in history.

That prince of diplomats, Minister Wu, used to stir his American audiences with the remark, "Yes, we bind our women's feet, but you bind your women's waists. Which is the worse?" And we would look guiltily at one another and say, "Now, there is something to that!"

The Hakka women of South Kuang-tung do not bind their feet. In Canton, only the daughters of the well follow the custom, and it was five days ere I saw a bound foot. You can go thence up the West river 500 miles and never see a woman hobble in the extreme north of China again. The Manchu women leave the foot natural, and this, perhaps, is why they are so big, healthy and comely.

In the rest of the empire foot binding has not been the folly of the idle nor the fad of the fashionable, but a custom that bore upon all classes, poor and rich alike. At Kalgan on the Mongolian frontier the field women work kneeling with great pads over the knees to protect them from the damp soil. In three districts in Kansuh women are still crawling about their houses upon their knees, reduced to the locomotion of brutes to please the perverted taste of men!

In Shansi and Shensi I saw the women wielding the sickle, not stooping—that would hurt their poor feet too much—but sitting and hitching themselves along as they reaped. The women had to be carried to the wheat field on wheelbarrow or cart, and their helplessness is such that most of them never in their lives get a mile away from the houses to which they were taken as brides.

Is it any wonder that crippled, crushed by conventional restrictions and regarded with contempt, such a woman shows none of the home-making instinct that in America brightens even the log hut of the mountain backwoodsman with crazy quilts, rag carpets, tides and old newspapers scissored into ornamental patterns and pasted around the clock shelf or over the windows? a tubfull of tears. Very likly, since the bandaging begins between the fifth and seventh years, and after three years of misery the front part of the foot and the heel ought to be forced together that a dollar will stick in the cleft. Says Mrs. Little, who fifteen years ago founded the Tien Tau Hui (Natural Foot Society); "During these three years the girlhood of China presents a most melancholy spectacle. Instead of a hop, skip and a jump, with rosy cheeks like the little girls of England, the poor little things are leaning heavily on a stick somewhat taller than themselves, or carried on a man's back, or sitting, sadly crying. They have great black lines under their eyes, and a special curiosities paleness that I have never seen except in connection with foot-binding. Their mothers mostly sleep with a big stick by the bedside, which to get up and beat the little girl should she disturb the household by her wails; but not uncommonly she is put to sleep in an outhouse. The only relief she gets is either from opium or from hanging her feet over the edge of her wooden bedstead so as to stop the circulation.

"They say one girl in ten dies from the process; but, worse yet, a descendant of Confucius tells us that in Shansi girl babies are sometimes killed at birth precisely because foot-binding so harrows up the feelings of the parents. No wonder that on account of exaggerated footbinding the women there are extra dirty and extra lazy. They pass their lives on the keng, take no exercises and never get fresh air nor a change of scene save on a rare festival day when the well-to-do are driven out in a springless Peking cart.

"One motive only induces a mother to impose such suffering on her little daughter—the fear of her not winning a husband." * * * Thanks to foreign influence, thoughtful men became aroused to the evils of the custom and a few years ago an edict of the empress dowager commanded the people to abandon it.

The upper classes seethe with rebellion against the senseless custom. Yet it is safe to say that at the present moment there are seventy million pairs of deformed, aching and unsightly feet—the sacrifice exacted of its womanhood by a depraved masculine taste."

GALBRAITH GAINS

IMPORTANT VICTORY

Special to the News.

Tulsa, Okla., Feb. 6.—Tate Brady candidate for democratic national committee and opponent to Robert Galbraith, Tulsa county candidate for that office met a crushing defeat this afternoon when the county central committee voted down the proposition to change the hour of the president caucuses from two o'clock to seven-thirty p. m. next Saturday.

Brady who controlled the convention of a week ago fixed the hour at 2 o'clock in pursuance with the call of the state committee and today attempted to line up the union labor vote at the precinct caucuses by changing the hour to accommodate them after working hours.

The leaders of the labor unions appeared before the convention and filed their petition signed by over four hundred laboring men who urged that the committee stand by the two o'clock call and not confuse the voters on next Saturday. Today's meeting was an interesting one and was looked upon as the final test of strength between Brady and Galbraith. Galbraith is claiming all the precincts in the county except Broken Arrow where they have agreed to divide the votes.

S.S.S. THE ONLY REMEDY FOR BLOOD POISON

S. S. S. is the one and only reliable and certain cure for Contagious Blood Poison. This claim is not based on the treatment of a few cases of the disease, here and there, but its success extends over a period of more than forty years, during which time thousands upon thousands have found a cure by the use of this great vegetable remedy. S. S. S. is first of all, an absolutely perfect blood purifier, able to go down into the blood and remove every particle of the virus of Contagious Blood Poison. It cleanses and purifies the circulation, and in this way removes the cause of the trouble. Then nature, assisted by a rich, healthy blood supply, quickly renovates and renews the system, while the symptoms of ulcerated mouth and throat, skin eruptions, discolored splotches, falling hair, sores and ulcers, etc., disappear, leaving the body entirely free from the effects of this insidious poison. When S. S. S. has thoroughly cleansed and purified the circulation there is no danger of any future outbreak—the blood is pure and the cause of the disease entirely removed. Home Treatment Book containing many valuable and helpful suggestions for those who are curing themselves with S. S. S., and any medical advice desired sent free to all who write.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO. ATLANTA, GA.

LAITORIAL BY A LAYMAN

Closing the Gates of the Soul.

Text: Luke 19:41-42.

In Bunyan's Holy War, Mansoul is a walled city with gates called Eye-gate, Ear-gate, etc. Capt. Will be Will is the guard at the gates letting who-soever he will in.

Even so God hath given to every man a soul and the gates thereto are many. The tragedy or the glory of it is that man has the power to close or open the gates. A tragedy in closing them to God and a glory in opening them to Him.

God has given to every man so much moral capital. It is sufficient as a working basis by man's honoring moral law, to prove himself a worthy steward and be counted solvent at God's clearing house. That capital, gradually drafted on by licentious plunges and subtle sins, eats away resisting power, the gates of the soul rendered impervious to noble appeals, and the soul, sordid by sin, becomes morally insolvent.

Man's Soul Has Many Gates.

God does not permit men to be bad easily. The heart of man is God's and he has fitted the soul with many gates which act as the maximum safeguard for man's welfare. If men are lost, it is because they have closed the gates through which God would enter. There are as many gates as there are elements in man. The gospel of God's dear Son speaks to every element, knocks at every gate until it has become closed through callousness and rendered incapable of response.

God appeals to the Reason Gate, Love's Gate, Fear Gate, Heroic Gate, Ideal Gate, Entreaty Gate and to others that he may enter and deluge the soul in divinity.

God Does Not Permit the Gates Closed Easily.

Moral bankrupts are the results of many days. The messengers of God interrupt man and plead with him up to the very vortex of ruin and the abyss bottomless. Macbeth may cry "out damned spot!" but remorse memory, conscience, scruple, act or his soul as goads to prevent further tragedies. Charles IX. may order Admiral Coligny slain, but the Huguenots will taunt him. The soul in its rush to ruin wades through warnings, crucifixes compunction, hangs heart-searchings, murders memory, riddles remorse. It must overcome the clannor of conscience, the inspiration of ideal the wooing of right and the goads of God.

The Possibility of Character Becoming Unchangeable.

Man's power of resistance can be depleted. Judgment can be passed while men still buy and sell. Jerusalem did this. The tears of the Son of God on that day flowed from his judgment seat as he projected the present moment to the great assize.

The human body is capitalized at so many white blood corpuscles. Disease is resisted so long as man's obeying the laws of health allows its secretion to be faster than invading armies of bacilli. So, constant drafts on resistance renders sin effective, overthrows the sense of the moral and dwells secure because of a depleted resisting power. An act of the soul does not vanish with the execution thereof. The law of reflex is as rigid as that of gravitation. The sown thought operates to a destiny through the interim of an act, a habit, a character, character may become chronic.

Engineers are considering the changing of the Mississippi's channel at St. Paul at a cost of $3,500,000. How much easier the task at its headwaters! How impossible at its mouth! And how did the Mississippi become a prisoner? It persisted in a given route until it dug its own prison. Even so men follow a given course until character is set in a groove and life is wrecked.

The Awfulness of a Soul With the Gates Shut.

The ancient warriors worked their fearful results to walled cities by cutting off their supply of food and water. Citizens devoured each other's loved ones and drank the victim's blood. So with man's soul, and the terrible auto holocaust consequent to shutting the gates of the soul to God. His faculties are starved for want of the nutrition incident to their life, and "the things which belong to their place." The Eye Gate has become evil and the soul is deluged in awful darkness, the Ear Gate hears naught but the crudities and coarseness of time, the Faith Gate is closed against God, Remorse Gate is grown rusty. Feel Gate has debris in the path which leads to it, while Conscience Gate has an impenetrable layer over it called callousness.

So, at last, by constant sinning against his own soul, the terrible tragedy is on. The soul becomes the meeting place of vile affection and carnal lust and the habitat of reeking licentiousness and evil habit, while the poor watchman over Mansoul is in groggy sleep and Capt. Will is the prisoner of Evil Passion.

Christ at the Gates of the Soul.

Holman Hunt's picture of the Christ at the door is a vivid setting forth of the text "Behold I stand at the door and knock." It is the old story of a closed door and the waiting Savior. Note the figure. He stands, which indicates supplication, expectancy, willingness. He knocks. What patience and persistence divine! He calls. And that voice! How tender it is! How pleading! Oh man, it is mingled with a flood of tears! He wants in, God is not willing you should perish.

"There's a stranger at the door, Let him in."

He has been there oft before, Let him in, he is your friend,

He your soul will sure defend,

He will keep you to the end,

Let him in."

TO DIG FOR WHISKY

Syndicate Seeks to Recover Liquor Lost Years Ago.

Cargo Which Searchers Expect to Recover From Lost Steamer Leadora, Estimated to Be Worth Not Less Than $50,000.

Sioux Falls, S. D.—Like a hunt for pirates' buried treasure is a search now being made at a point on the Missouri river, where South Dakota and Iowa join. The object is to recover one hundred barrels of whisky and other goods supposed to be in the hull of the Missouri river steamer Leadora, which was grounded and partly destroyed forty-five years ago.

The cargo which the searchers expect to recover is estimated to be worth not less than $50,000. The Leadora was 175 feet long and was bound from St. Louis to Fort Benton, Mont., when it met with its mishap. The cargo consisted, as near as can be learned at this late day, of more than one hundred barrels of whisky and mining tools.

When the steamer reached the southeastern corner of South Dakota its crew discovered that what had been the main channel of the Missouri was temporarily blocked by a sandbar. So they worked the steamer over to the South Dakota side of the river in an endeavor to find an opening through which the boat could pass. The boat ran aground, and while an attempt was being made to free it, it was found to be on fire. To prevent the fire from destroying both boat and cargo the craft was scuttled. The nine passengers and crew escaped and twenty barrels of whisky, together with some groceries, were saved.

In 1871, six years later, the insurance firm which paid the insurance on the boat sold the salvage to James Boorge of Sioux City, and he set to work to recover the cargo. Men worked two or three weeks on the boat and had taken off some of the cargo, as well as the engines and boiler, excepting the "nigger" engine, when the river rose rapidly and forced the abandonment of the work. Since then until the present effort little has been done to recover the rest of the cargo.

The present operations are being conducted by the Cole Brothers, of Alcester, and E. E. Wenner of Elk Point, assisted by Daniel Ballinger, now a resident of the vicinity, who was a passenger on the boat on its last trip.

Wenner located the old boat about fifteen years ago by means of a compass and metallic attraction, and at that time he sunk a cylinder down to what was supposed to be the deck and found things in good shape. He decided that as long as the main channel of the Missouri remained where it was the old hull could be damaged but little. Since then Wenner has had the old boat in mind, but not until a few weeks ago did he do anything further about recovering the cargo.

Such of the timbers of the old craft as have been uncovered are in fine condition, and the iron work does not appear to have been damaged by its exposure to the elements and the wet sand.

A second hole near what is supposed to have been the stern of the steamer is now being sunk, and this has gone down rapidly until the hull has again been struck.

The other day the men engaged in the operations recovered a broken bottle with the words, "O. K. Plantation, 1840," blown into the glass. Within a few days they have found peanuts, coffee, almonds and other goods.

CHEAPER TO REMAIN SINGLE

Bridegroom to Have Been Balked on Wedding When He Learns That License Will Cost Him $4.50.

Spokane, Wash.—There is a second hand marriage license at the county auditor's office that some couple might get at a bargain.

The license was issued to William Kelly, aged 37, and Alphona Mallett, aged 40, both of Spokane, who appeared together. Kelly, after being told that the price was $4.50, searched in his pockets and then paused.

"Does that include the price of the marriage, too?" asked Kelly.

"No, that will be $2.50 more," said Deputy Auditor Skaden.

"Well, I guess I won't take it," replied Kelly. "I believe it is cheaper to be single than married and will continue as I am."

The couple then walked out.

SCHOOL LUNCH MAKES HIT.

St. Louis—"Two-and-one-half-cent luncheons" inaugurated by the board of education in the Jefferson, Henry, Lafayette and Pestalozzi schools are eaten by approximately 2,500 grade pupils and pronounced a success, not in words, but in the rapidity with which they are consumed. The lunches are prepared at the Central high school and carried to the grade schools in specially constructed wagons.

DIRTY FACED WOMEN.

New York.—Only one woman in 100 in New York has a clean face, according to a beauty specialist who told 500 women attending her lecture to go home and get busy with hot soap and water.

SUPPER PAID FOR ITSELF

Clever Trick by Which Liszt and Rubini Packed House for Their Second Concert.

An article in an Italian review contains an interesting story of Liszt, the composer, and Rubini, the tenor. Touring together, they visited a town where a great financial success was expected. But they were disappointed, for when they entered the hall they found only fifty persons present.

Rubini was furious, and said he would not sing; but Liszt calmed him.

"You must sing," he said; "this small audience is evidently composed of musical connoisseurs of the town, so we should treat them with respect."

Liszt set the example with a grand overture, and Rubini sang to perfection. Liszt gave another piece, and then addressed the audience.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he said, "I think that you have had enough music. Allow me to ask you to take a little supper with us."

The invitation was accepted, and Liszt and Rubini entertained the audience to supper at their hotel, at a cost of twelve hundred francs. When the guests separated the hosts thought the affair had been a joke about which nothing more would be heard, but they decided to give their concert as advertised on the following night. To their astonishment the hall was packed; there was no standing room. The whole town had turned out on the chance of an invitation to supper.

MACON PREPARING TO

ENTERTAIN ALL VISITORS

(By Brown McMillin.)

Macon, Georgia, Feb. 6.—In all probability no city in the South in the history of former Confederate reunions has made greater strides so early in preparation for such an enormous undertaking than Macon, and at the present time arrangements are well under way auguring that the reunion to be held in Macon May 6, 7, 8, and 9 will be the most elaborate as well as the most completely arranged in the history of the South. Already departmental committees are at work in a systematic manner in an effort to have the city in perfect condition for entertaining the 150,000 visitors who will have to be housed and fed.

"The very best," he says, "tell you what I'll do, Miss Ellis," he says. "You don't look a very strong lady, and I'll fill it with wind for ye."

"If you want concessions," concluded Miss Ellis, "I recommend ye to that boy."—Youth's Companion.

TAKING NO RISKS.

"Yes," said the suburbanite, "I am fond of mushrooms and we often have them on our table."

"But," asked the city man, "don't you incur some risk of eating a toadstool now and then?"

"Not if the person who picks them understands his business. Invariably I exercise the utmost care. So does a certain neighbor of mine. We are not on very good terms with him. Imagine my surprise the other evening when his small daughter brought over a mess of mushrooms, saying her papa wanted us to try them for supper. Well, they were all right. We ate them and they were enjoyed. Later I met an acquaintance of my kind neighbor.

"Did you eat those mushrooms?" he asked.

"Sure," said I.

"No bad effects?"

"None whatever. Why do you ask?"

"Well, Mr. Blank was in
